Top Honour for Kedron-Wavell Services Club Club of the Year 2010

The Kedron-Wavell Services Club has been named Club of the Year at Saturday night's IGT & Clubs Queensland Awards for Excellence at Jupiters on the Gold Coast.

Awards were handed out in 34 categories, recognising excellence in all aspects of community club operation.

This year's overall honour and highly sought after award Club of the Year was one of five awards Kedron-Wavell Services Club has added to its trophy cabinet for 2010.

They were awarded:

- Best Licensed RSL Services Club-large (for the second year running)
- Best Club Re-development over $1 million
- Best Club in Brisbane North
- Club of the Year

The club was also inducted into the awards Hall of Fame, for previously being named Best Entertainment Venue for three consecutive years something very rarely achieved.

Secretary Manager Chris Sartori was pleasantly surprised by the unexpected awards and congratulated his staff for their contributions as well as recognising the support from their members.

'Everyone should be very proud of their individual contributions as these types of awards are only possible with the support and commitment of a collective team effort,' he said.

The Award finalists are selected by industry peers, from thousands of not-for-profit community clubs across Queensland.

State President of Clubs Queensland, Don Seccombe, said more than ever our community clubs need something to celebrate.

"The past 12 months have produced some interesting and certainly challenging times, however - struggling or not, our community clubs are still out there every day, holding their nerve, and making a difference by providing affordable entertainment, facilities, support for our returned service men and women, etc. "

"This simply confirms community clubs are safe, family friendly environments and strong community hub and it justified that community clubs must not only survive, but also grow," Mr Seccombe said.
